Warmth When You Want It.
Shade When You Need It.

The National Bureau of Standards and ASHRE, The American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers, have run tests clearly demonstrating that window awnings are an energy saving device for many homeowners.

Because you let in the sun's rays when you want them most - during the winter - you can save on heating costs. During the summer, when you only need a little light, your air conditioner won't have to work as hard. You'll be utilizing natural daylight without the damage from direct ultraviolet rays. Properly placed, aluminum awnings can reduce summer time room temperatures by as much as fifteen degrees. Aluminum awnings are a smart investment, and will save you a lot of money for a long time.

Your new aluminum awnings will be custom built to exacting standards and are now available in an exciting array of contemporary satin-finished colors. Today's aluminum awnings are designed to be a soft, blend-in accessory for your home.

A Natural Style....
